

Saving the NHS Money

Dispex is pleased to be associated with Spirit Healthcare who are genuinely trying to challenge the current players in the blood glucose self-monitoring market.

The CareSens N proposition offers potentially massive savings to the NHS as their strips are approximately £2 cheaper per month to the NHS and where it is clinically appropriate for the patient to be self-testing it must make sense to initiate new patients on a more cost-effective testing regime.

For a PCTs or PBCs with 15,000 patients self-testing per month this could lead to savings of £360,000 per year. Money which could be spent on providing essential or additional services

We know that other companies bombard dispensing practices with free meters but Spirit Healthcare offer more than just free meters for those practices that are genuinely committed to saving the NHS money – a free clinical audit to reduce the numbers of patients un-necessarily testing and to show the potential saving for your practice for using CareSens N.
